FIRST DANCE DRIVES AWAY CARKING CARE

Troubles Forgot Under the Influence of Jazz.

HOP A SUCCESS.

Opening Affair Sets a High Standard.

One of the most successful informal dances ever held in the Union was this year's premier, which took place last evening under the auspices of the Students' Council. Promptly at eight o'clock the orchestra swung into the strains of "When You Look in the Heart of a Rose," and from then until midnight there were no dull moments for the four hundred and fifty devotees of Terpsichore assembled in the ball-room and lounge. Never were the frocks or the girls prettier, and never were the efforts of the Westmount Jazz Orchestra more heartily endorsed. Miss Cleary on the lounge floor, too, found her music appreciated to the full. The floor was perfect, as the Union floor always is, and those whose chief pleasure it is to "bend the merry elbow and shake the wicked toe," found the evening one of pure enjoyment. The delicious supper was done justice to by all, and the arrangement whereby the dancers were divided into two groups for refreshments did away with the usual crush. Those in charge are to be congratulated on the excellence of the arrangements. If the standard of this first dance is to be maintained, the success of the season's series is already assured.

Among those present last evening were: Miss Hurlbutt, Mrs. Moyle, Mrs. MacDonald, Mrs. Forbes, the Misses Davidson, MacDonald, Clarke, Staver, Maxwell, Tait, Scott, A. MacFarlane, A. G. Perry, Little, Smith, A. McKee, H. R. Nichol, G. MacDonald, Trimble, Cohen, Marston, Hay, Gandle, Giffert, E. Campbell, M. Baikie, T. Fair, M. Black, Gilmour, Henderson, B. Larkin, D. Charlton, I. SUBSCRIPTIONS TO DANCE CLOSE SOON

To Prevent Disappointment, Tickets Should Be Secured at Once.

The subscription list for the Junior Dance on November 28th, which was to have closed yesterday, will remain open till to-night. So far, although a good number of the Junior Year have taken advantage of the chance thus afforded, the subscriptions have not been in any way commensurate with the number of students in the year. Those who intend to be present will do well to take advantage of the extension of time during which subscriptions will be received, as delay may mean disappointment.

Applications should be made to the Hall Porter of the Union, the applicant leaving his name, class and address. Upon payment of five dollars he will receive a receipt, which is exchangeable later for tickets. Men students of the Junior Year may be accompanied by ladies who are not members of the student body at all, and the same privilege is extended to lady students as regards their partners. In the latter case, application should be made to Miss Constance Harvey, R.V.C.

R.V.C. UNDERGRAD SOCIETY MEETING

Victory Loan Was Main Subject Under Discussion.

A meeting of the R.V.C. Undergraduate Society was held at one o'clock in the Common Room. After the minutes were read, Miss Nichol introduced Mr. Mace, Capt. Humphrey and Mr. Meade, who were to speak on the Victory Loan. Mr. Mace then took the chair and spoke a few words on the object of the loan, viz., to keep Canada from trade depression such as is prevalent in European countries. Canada's debt is $610,000,000; the cost of the war amounts to $11,000,000,000, and $59,000,000 has been spent in war gratuities for the soldiers. One-third of the loan is to be sent to Great Britain and the Allies to buy Canadian foodstuffs; so that all the money will be spent in Canada.

The next speaker was Capt. Humphrey, who spoke of the necessity of the loan. Last year's loan was spent by June of this year. The Government had to borrow money for the soldiers' gratuities and the civil re-establishment. No one begrudges money for the returned soldiers, and if Canada wants the trade with Great Britain she must help her to pay the farmers cash. How can we help? Mr. Meade, the next speaker, showed how even those in very moderate circumstances could do their share. Bonds can be purchased by cash or by monthly payments of 10 per cent. Anyone desiring to buy a bond should see the president of her year.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT THIRD LECTURE

Dr. Withrow To Be At Strathcona To Answer Questions To-Day.

Dr. O. C. Withrow delivered his third lecture on sex education before a large number of students last night. The subject, as well as those that have gone before was dealt with in a frank, straightforward manner, which greatly impressed those present.

This time the picture shown was not moving, but a series of slides dealing with an important phase of the question. This is the last of the four lectures to be delivered by Dr. Withrow.

To-night, the picture entitled "How Life Begins," which was shown to an appreciative audience on Thursday, will, by popular demand, be repeated. It is expected that the large hall at the Central Y.M.C.A. will be filled, as this is the last opportunity that McGill students will have to hear this eminent lecturer this year.

This picture shows the reproduction of various organizations from unicellular to the complex mammals. Though dealing with a scientific subject, the matter is so handled that all will understand. Medical students should be particularly keen about attending, because, not only will subjects of their curriculum be reviewed, but the matter will be presented in a vivid and interesting manner.

A fact of special interest to all students is the fact that Dr. Withrow is going to be in Room "E" from 9 a.m. till noon, at Strathcona Hall this morning for the purpose of answering any personal questions that students may desire to ask him.

MCGILL TEAM VERSUS R.M.C. AT STADIUM

Game Begins At 10.30 A.M.

WELL MATCHED.

A Heavy Will Handicap R.M.C. in Speed.

To-day at 10.30, at the Stadium, the McGill second team will play R.M.C. Exactly a week ago the Intermediates were defeated by ten points, playing against the same side at Kingston. Since, in the Intermediate Series, the winning team is decided by the score, and not by the number of games, McGill's only chance for the championship is to defeat R.M.C. by more than ten points. In that case the team will next play Varsity for the Intermediate championship of the Western Division.

The teams are not as unequal as might at first be supposed by last week's score. R.M.C. gained the victory largely owing to their speed, which they kept up during the whole game. For the first two quarters, McGill held them, but they were unable to do so during the last two quarters owing to their inferior condition.

To-day, the McGill team will certainly be in better form than on Saturday last, when they had spent the whole day in the train. Neither will the R.M.C. team be able to profit so much to-day by their superior speed, owing to the nature of the field. In fact, more than the usual amount of work will probably devolve on the lines, of which McGill has the slightly heavier. Thus it is that perhaps McGill has a small advantage, especially since the team is playing on the home ground.

Since the last game, the team has been constantly practising and playing together, and under the coaching of "Shag" and the direction of Eric Parsons has undoubtedly improved in many directions, even with one man going to the Senior team. Still it will be an uphill fight to regain ten points, but with a few breaks the Intermediates should be able to overcome this handicap.

ROOTERS TO MEET OUTSIDE UNION

Captain Jenks and His Hoarse Marines Mobilize Early.

The Rooters' Club, which has been putting in so much strenuous work in preparation for to-day's game, and which hopes to do its part in putting Presbyterial stock down near zero, is to be mobilized early this afternoon. Under "Captain" Jenks and his aides, Hutchison and Murphy, they will fall in outside the Union at 1.50, and from thence, accompanied by the band, will march direct to the Stadium. Rooters who have not as yet procured their tickets may so at the Union between one and two. No tickets will be sold at the rooters' entrance.

Much profound stuff is looked for from the fertile minds who have been busy with new ideas for some days in anticipation of to-day's opportunities. Murphy's shimmying proclivities are in no way diminished, and his efforts with the demure R.V.C.'s may be better rewarded than they were a fortnight ago. Hutchison and his pipe will be a feature, and a Pathe representative will be looking for subjects between halves. If you can't get into the movies on your looks, you may on your rooter's ticket. Be there.

The Game With Queens

The McGill Senior Football Squad will jump into the third big struggle for the inter-collegiate championship this afternoon. That this game will be played upon her own Campus, that she has on no occasion suffered defeat this season, and the fact that her opponents, of to-day have thus far proved the least of her obstacles in the race for first place—these are the very considerations which combine to make to-day's contest a critical one. Should McGill go down to defeat before the Queens fourteen, their hold upon the championship would be very materially weakened. In fact such a contingency would throw the final outcome of the intercollegiate series wholly upon the game to be staged between McGill and Toronto upon our own stadium next Saturday. This last mentioned contest promises, even should McGill win from Queens to-day, to be the most strenuous struggle of the season and Varsity, impelled by the possibility of effecting a tie with McGill for first place (which would be opened up in the event of Queens defeating McGill to-day), could be counted upon to put up a battle royal.

The importance of to-day's game must therefore be obvious from McGill's standpoint as well as from that of Toronto. With a clean sheet the Red and White can meet the Varsity aggregation next Saturday under the most favorable circumstances and further, in the event of the unexpected happening, such a loss to the Blue and White would not necessarily be fatal.

A lot therefore depends upon to-day's game. McGill can afford to take no chances and not a single element of support which may possibly contribute in any way to a victory can be disregarded. This is the first opportunity which the Student Body has had of seeing the University fourteen in action as a finished machine. It should be a big day at McGill—one which will be featured with real college spirit and fraught with all the wholehearted enthusiasm of which a university of live men is capable.

Editorial Note

As the fore-runner of the season's series of social functions, the informal dance held under the auspices of the Students' Council last night was a big success.

The dances planned and successfully carried out by the Council during the four war years were practically the only social functions of a general nature which were held. Now that things are getting back to a pre-war basis, organizations and institutions, the activities of which have been suspended, are getting into line once more. This does not mean, in our opinion, that the responsibility of the Council with regard to social affairs is in any way affected. There should be a certain number of general social functions, and the responsibility for their success naturally devolves upon the Students' Council which is representative of the Student Body.

McGILL OUT TO TRIM THE QUEENS' TEAM

"Shag" Will Take No Chance.

QUEEN'S CHANGES.

Will Be First Intercollegiate Game At McGill in Several Years.

For the first time in several years, McGill will witness Intercollegiate Rugby on her own grounds when the McGill Seniors meet Queen's at the Stadium this afternoon, in their third scheduled game of the season.

In spite of the fact that there has been a considerable fall of snow lately, it is expected that the field will be in fair condition, so that a good game is anticipated. There will be a large turnout of rooters who will undoubtedly help to make things lively.

"Shag" does not intend to take any chances, and will send out the strongest line-up possible. Flanagan and Ambridge, who played centre-half and inside wing against Varsity last Saturday, will not be able to turn out with the team this afternoon on account of injuries received in that game. Flanagan's position will be taken by Laflorey, who will do the kicking, and Hall will fill the gap made by Ambridge's disability. The team will undoubtedly miss the effective line plunging that Flanagan accomplished against Toronto, but Laflorey has already played against Queen's, and should make a good showing. Tommy Hall played during the latter part of last Saturday's game, and will certainly do his share of work on the line. V. Honey will very likely play in Gallery's position at right half.

Queen's has made several changes in their line-up since they met McGill several weeks ago, and should prove to be a much more formidable aggregation than on that occasion, when they were without the services of several of their regulars. The heavy condition of the ground, however, will undoubtedly favor the team with the strongest scrim line, and in this respect the Red and White have already clearly demonstrated their superiority.

The first team went through a snappy workout yesterday in preparation for to-day's game. The whole afternoon was devoted to signals and scrim formations, with Wallace as quarter, and the players now work with the precision and accuracy of a machine. Altogether, the men feel confident that they will give Queen's the trouncing of their life. The Red and White can reasonably hope for victory this afternoon, but everyone can expect a clean hard-played game from Queen's that should provide an interesting exhibition of Rugby.

The ground, though better yesterday than it has been for some days, will make the game rather slow, and will also make the tackling and running uncertain.

Persons, who was quite recently promoted to the Senior team, will be among the spares. He is a very heavy man with a good deal of school football experience to his credit, and he ought to prove a valuable asset to the team.

The probable line-up of the two teams will be as follows.

HARRIERS HELD RUN YESTERDAY

Wet Course Made Time Slow.

Yesterday afternoon the interfaculty run took place. The men had been excused from lectures at four o'clock, and so all the Harriers were at the dressing rooms at 4:15 sharp. When everybody was dressed, W. S. Antliff outlined the course in case the men should become separated by too great a distance. This course was practically the same as the one which will be run on the 15th. Leaving the Stadium, it follows Pine Avenue to the Serpentine at the head of Peel, then up the Serpentine to the Mountain road, and along this road to the field close by the Park Slide, thence it follows the road around the field and back to the main thoroughfare up the Mountain. It follows this road along above the reservoir and down the Outremont Serpentine to Park Avenue, along Park Ave. to the Stadium, and around the track one and a half times. The entire course was covered to a depth of from two to three inches, and near the Park

Slide it was ankle deep in mud.

Although the ground was so heavy, a good pace was set from the very start. W. S. Antliff, Desbarats, Douglas and Boucher took the lead at the start and kept this position throughout the run. These four streaked out along the road well ahead of the other harriers, who kept well grouped until the return trip had begun. At this point, Antliff began to draw away from the others, and obtained so great a lead that he was able to finish half a mile ahead of the second man. The keenest part of the race was for fourth place, and Boucher, MacNeider and Legg each held the position for a time. On the way down Pine Avenue, Boucher speeded up and managed to come in fourth after making two and one half complete rounds of the track. Antliff's time for the run was 35 minutes 55 seconds.

The order in which the men came in is as follows:

Antliff—Commerce
Desbarats—Science,
Douglas—Science,
Boucher—Medicine,
MacNeider—Science,
Legg—Science,
J. C. Antliff—Science,
Egg—Medicine,
Palmer—Science,
Bluest—Science,
Skinner—Medicine,
Bein—Science,
Coudreau,
Spas,
Bronner,
Howard,
James,
Hale.

Although the team has been practically picked, all men are requested to turn up at the practice on Monday. Among the Theobalds are many former Harriers, and not a single representative from this faculty has been out to practice.

SCIENCE '22.

There will be a meeting of Science '22 to-day at one o'clock, in Room 33.

LIFE IN THE NORTH.

Among the tales of daring adventure, descriptions of much beauty in an undeveloped land, and character sketches of delightful insight, to be found in "New Rivers of the North," Hulbert Footner writes that the following story, of a wolf left to shift for himself, was told him on good authority.

"All I possessed in the world was a cotton shirt, a ragged little pair of trousers, and a moccasins that he changed from top to foot. Last, some one gave him a rag of a blanket, about as big as a coatmat. And this was one of the coldest winters on record: the thermometer dropped to 75 below zero. Nevertheless he came through well nourished and healthy."

While the account convinces the reader that heavy wearing apparel and substantial food meant nothing in the young life of St. John Peace—he was four at the time of the experience—the author mercifully adds that the child was later adopted by some surveyors and sent to school.

FRESHMEN ARE MAKING HEAD IN DEBATES

Sophomores Must Take Heed.

DEBATE LAST NIGHT

Judges Decided Affirmative Side Had Won.

It would be well for the Sophs to take heed in this matter of inter-class debate. Judging from the material brought forth last evening by the Freshman debating team at the first meeting, its manner of delivery and the amount of interest aroused among the audience, we can truthfully say that the prospects were never brighter for the first-year class to carry off the honors of the annual debates than at present.

The subject used: "Be it resolved: That country life is better than city life," was quite thoroughly dealt with by both sides, and was presented in such a manner that, to a casual observer alone, it must have been a wonderful enlightenment. Messrs. Bowen and McClellan were the speakers for the affirmative, and set forth the arguments in favor of the rural life very forcefully, not sparing the poor unfortunate who must live in cities by choice or circumstances, very much.

On the other hand, two better men could hardly have been found for the negative than Messrs. McKibben and Bushell, who painted the country lad, departing for the city to have his fling and his opportunity among the bright lights, in all the color possible. The audience showed their interest and appreciation of the sound logic as well as the sprinkling of humor by frequent applause. Let us say to the members of the class who automatically absented themselves for various reasons, that if they would like to spend a really enjoyable evening, let them "sit up" once to a good debate. The decision of the judges was in favor of the affirmative, and right at this point is where Mr. McQuat, honorary vice-president, gave some valuable pointers to the class. Miss Thelma Zeederberg presided as chairman of the meeting, and in well-chosen words thanked Mr. McQuat on behalf of the class for his kindly assistance and interest in our work.

Notes

Members of the Montreal Gardeners and Florists Club were welcome guests at the Macdonald greenhouses at Professor Bunting on Thursday, to see the beautiful display of chrysanthemums. The display was fully appreciated and we are glad to state that the men who journeyed out here are said to feel well repaid for their trip.

Mr. Jones gave the Model and Elementary Teachers a very interesting talk at 4:00 o'clock yesterday on Chrysanthemums. He outlined the history of the flower, methods of growth and propagation, and the varieties and illustrated the talk by some splendid examples of his work on these flowers.

We are glad to see Short Course so ready to turn out for basketball and hope by their help to have a fine practice on Tuesday. Cannot Junior Science follow their lead and turn out also?

Preparations for the big dance on Tuesday night are well under way and a wonderful time is expected. Any girls who have flags are asked to bring them to Room 220, as soon as possible. These will be used for decorating the gymnasium.

Household Science girls will be glad to know that Miss Hill expects to be able to return to the college in a short time.

Miss Mona Van Dayn will soon have completed her term of housekeeping in the apartment. The next housekeeper is to be Miss Honor Gifford.

APPEAL FOR FUNDS.

A joint appeal for the financial support of American universities and colleges has been made by A. Lawrence Lowell, president of Harvard University, A. T. Hadley, president of Yale, and John Grier Hibben, president of Princeton, in their desire to protect institutions of higher learning from the disastrous results of high living costs.

The cost of the necessities of life has doubled in the last 10 years, the report explains, and the salaries of professors, never high enough, are now inadequate to enable them to support their families in reasonable comfort. It is therefore practically impossible to recruit the proper type of new men for this profession.

SUCCESSFUL HORTICULTURE EXHIBITION

Display Of Chrysanthemums Main Feature.

SEVERAL SPEECHES.

Presentation of Garden Competition Cups Won By Members.

The Ste. Anne de Bellevue Horticultural Society met last evening in Room 1 of the main building. The meeting combined with a splendid programme the annual Chrysanthemum display, which was indeed excellent, and comprised all colors and varieties of "mums" very tastefully arranged in their setting of palms and various ferns.

Among the speakers were Mrs. J. H. Harrington, Mrs. E. H. Foy, Miss Smith, of the Household Science staff, and Miss Van Deyn, all of whom spoke on Unusual Vegetable Dishes. Mrs. W. Hartwell, Mr. R. R. Macauley and Mr. R. Charters also gave valuable information from their own experiences in gardening.

Cups were also presented to Mr. P. Charles, of the Animal Husbandry Department, for the best vegetable garden in the amateur class; to Mrs. L. J. Bolleau, for the best front garden in the amateur class; and to Dr. Harrison, for the best front garden in the open class; while Mr. R. R. Macauley received a silver cigarette case for the best vegetable garden in the "open" class.

The society was offered $225 in prizes for next year by Mr. R. Burrows, of Harry's Seed Store, Montreal, which was very gratefully accepted.

GIRL STUDENTS' FIRST DANCE.

The men in residence were very pleased to see an invitation to a "Dance" pinned on their Bulletin Board. The dance will take place Tuesday, November 11th, "Armistice Night," and will be a very fitting celebration for this day. This is the first of Macdonald's big dances for the year, and already anticipation runs high. It is given by the girl students in residence, and is considered the biggest event that takes place during the fall term.

To overcome the shortage of boys, invitations are being sent out to fifty graduates, who will welcome an opportunity to visit their Alma Mater under such favorable circumstances.

S. V. CONVENTIONS.

This is just an echo from the Kansas City Convention held in 1914, and it may show to McGill students that the convention this year at Des Moines is worth a big delegation from our University.

"The Kansas City Convention made a profound impression upon the nine delegates from ——— Monday morning they reported in Chapel. One of the men who reported is a son of a wealthy Congressman, and one of the most popular men in college. President ——— said that his report made a deep impression upon the 650 men gathered in Chapel. The gist was that the convention had made real to him Prayer and God. To my mind this is more significant than if he had some back saying that it had made him a foreign missionary or a student volunteer."

Would you lend a soldier $50 if you knew it would save his life? Buy Victory Bonds and keep the military hospitals up.

If you appreciate a good investment you will buy a Victory Bond.

You decide no one but yourself when you say you can't afford a Victory Bond.

THE HOLMAN.

The fascinating, romantic "Mickey" will be screened for a week's run at the Holman, starting Sunday. Probably no other picture had a greater send-off, not only on account of the great popularity of the song, but because it is admitted on all sides that the play is one of the prettiest and most entertaining yet placed before the public. There is no morbid sentiment in the play. It is wholly adventurous, replete with excitement and yet not far-fetched, while there is a fascinating touch of laughter and pathos all the way through. "Mickey" is a little mountain girl who grows up wild but good and has a charming fondness for animals and absence of fear in riding horses bareback. Then, by a change of situations, she is set amidst the whirl of New York's society with all its shams and attendant evils. Here she acts as a servant, and then with another change she is made one of the mistresses of the house and then embarks on her great racing adventure which is absolutely the most realistic and exciting horse race ever depicted. Following this, there is a terrific fight. "Mickey" is a story of universal appeal. It is a human, tender narrative that in the telling is somewhere between laughter and pathos. There are charming bits of comedy and there are places where the story trembles very close to the brink of tears. The part of "Mickey" is taken by Mabel Normand, who works tremendously hard and throws herself into the part with the greatest enthusiasm. There is an exceedingly strong supporting cast, especially the Indian squaw, a splendid character, who will entertain everyone. The scenery is extremely picturesque. An additional attraction will be the singing of the song, "Mickey," by Mr. John T. Eldes, who has recovered from his recent indisposition. His mellowness of voice will add charm to the prettiness of the tune, and there is no doubt that the chorus will be taken up with the enthusiasm that is now recognized as part of the Holman audiences.

A farce-comedy of an unusually attractive type will be seen at the Orpheum Theatre next week, when "His Majesty Bunker Bean" is presented by the Orpheum Players. It possesses originality of plot, and ingenuity of incident and situation. Moreover, the comedy is of a novel type, and the story one that cannot fail to amuse.

Bunker Bean is the name of a shy young baseball enthusiast, the private secretary of a self-made financier, one J. B. Breede, whose peevish tastes reveal themselves in two things that Bunker Bean particularly abhors—grey woolen socks and detachable cuffs, in which Breede delights.

Breede's young daughter, Marie, and her up-to-date grandmother, who is an ardent suffragette, determine that Bean is the only fit and proper mate for Marie, but Bunker's retiring disposition prevents them from bringing him up to the scratch. However, just when everything looks hopeless, Bunker comes into contact with a fake fortune teller, who manages to convince him that he is a lineal descendant, through various astral incarnations, of an Egyptian King, a Venetian Doge and the original Napoleon Bonaparte.

Bunker, believing firmly in his royal blood, gains self-confidence and with it self-assurance. He even succeeds in getting his own employer in a big stock deal. Then he musters up sufficient courage to propose to Marie, who promptly accepts him, and the curtain falls on the acceptance by his prospective father-in-law of Bunker as a full partner in his financial house.

The play is one written solely to amuse, and its long runs both on the road and in stock, would seem to indicate that it possesses all the qualities essential to a first-class entertainment.

The feature act that the Princess Theatre next week, The Twelve Navasars Girls, is one of the most picturesque and attractive before vaudeville audiences to-day. All the girls are skilled instrumentalists, and, in addition, they sing, dance and provide plenty of dainty comedy in the course of an entertainment which, elaborately costumed and prettily staged, presents a most interesting and refreshing change from the tawdry, ill-dressed musical act of a few years ago.

Two Canadian Girls, the Elrey Sisters, who have as clever a roller-skating act as there is to be found, will be seen here on a return visit. They accomplish a number of "smart" tricks on skates which many people could not even perform without skates.

A talking, machine saloon provides the background for the novelty act in which Barto and Clarke will be featured. It is a unique type of sketch, which will be found to contain much original humor and plenty of laughter.

Charles Irwin, after having seen active service with the Royal English Fusiliers, has been honorably discharged with war medals to his credit, and is now engaged in giving a dramatic act in vaudeville which has made a hit generally. He possesses emphatic histrionic abilities, and should make an impression here.

A graduate from Gus Edwards' training, Lilian Gonne, a bright little comedienne, will present, with Bert Albot, a novelty sketch designed particularly to appeal to youth, entitled, "On Their Way to School." It includes some attractive songs, dances and stories.

"Fragrant Tunes from the Garden of Melodies," is the title of a song act in which Irving Newhoff and Dode Phelps will star. They have been provided with a special programme of new songs by W. B. Friedlander, Keller Mack and Anna Earl, in "A Letter of Introduction," a new comedy sketch, and one act yet to be announced, complete the bill.

When "Almost a Husband," the new Broadway picture starring witty Will Rogers, opens at the New Grand Theatre, commencing Sunday, a number of finely drawn characterizations, which were carefully reproduced in this interesting Opie Read story by Director Clarence G. Badger, will be presented on the screen.

"Almost a Husband" is laid in a small Arkansas town, drowsily existing along the sleepy banks of the old Mississippi River, where the "up-boat" is cause for excitement. Nothing ever happened there until Sam Lyman, the new schoolmaster from "up Vermont way," hit the town. Then things began to happen. There is the town banker, a "big pond in a small puddle," as a sub-title tells. His beautiful young daughter, enacted by Peggy Wood, star of "Maytime," plays opposite Rogers, the schoolmaster. Herbert Standing, the grand old English actor, is her financier father, Ed Brady is seen as the mule trader villain, and his portrayal of the part is deserving of worthy comment. Cullen Landis is the lad who loves in puppy fashion both his school sweetheart, played by Clara Horton, and Will Rogers, the teacher. Other minor parts are well carried by old character actors who have studied long on the speaking stage.

As an added feature, Charlie Chaplin will be seen in a revival of his funniest picture, "The Floorwalker."

discharged with war medals to his credit, and is now engaged in giving a dramatic act in vaudeville which has made a hit generally. He possesses emphatic histrionic abilities, and should make an impression here.

A graduate from Gus Edwards' training, Lilian Gonne, a bright little comedienne, will present, with Bert Albot, a novelty sketch designed particularly to appeal to youth, entitled, "On Their Way to School." It includes some attractive songs, dances and stories.

"Fragrant Tunes from the Garden of Melodies," is the title of a song act in which Irving Newhoff and Dode Phelps will star. They have been provided with a special programme of new songs by W. B. Friedlander, Keller Mack and Anna Earl, in "A Letter of Introduction," a new comedy sketch, and one act yet to be announced, complete the bill.

When "Almost a Husband," the new Broadway picture starring witty Will Rogers, opens at the New Grand Theatre, commencing Sunday, a number of finely drawn characterizations, which were carefully reproduced in this interesting Opie Read story by Director Clarence G. Badger, will be presented on the screen.

"Almost a Husband" is laid in a small Arkansas town, drowsily existing along the sleepy banks of the old Mississippi River, where the "up-boat" is cause for excitement. Nothing ever happened there until Sam Lyman, the new schoolmaster from "up Vermont way," hit the town. Then things began to happen. There is the town banker, a "big pond in a small puddle," as a sub-title tells. His beautiful young daughter, enacted by Peggy Wood, star of "Maytime," plays opposite Rogers, the schoolmaster. Herbert Standing, the grand old English actor, is her financier father, Ed Brady is seen as the mule trader villain, and his portrayal of the part is deserving of worthy comment. Cullen Landis is the lad who loves in puppy fashion both his school sweetheart, played by Clara Horton, and Will Rogers, the teacher. Other minor parts are well carried by old character actors who have studied long on the speaking stage.

As an added feature, Charlie Chaplin will be seen in a revival of his funniest picture, "The Floorwalker."
